Brief Overview

In FY-24, World Vision International Lesotho made significant strides in integrating Goods-in-Kind (GIK) resources into various programs, reaching numerous beneficiaries and households.

The organization focused on improving educational environments, enhancing maternal and child health services, and supporting vulnerable families. Key achievements included distributing school furniture to multiple schools, benefiting students, and providing essential health resources to the Ministry of Health, reaching many children. Additionally, GIK resources supported disaster-affected families, human trafficking victims, and child labor projects.

The Sponsorship/Child Protection program distributed clothing, shoes, and children's winter jackets, benefiting numerous individuals. These efforts have strengthened partnerships, increased organizational visibility, and improved the well-being of vulnerable children and communities across Lesotho.

World Vision Lesotho National Director
James Chifwelu Nkamba

Foreword

On behalf of World Vision Lesotho, it is an honor to present the report detailing our initiatives and accomplishments in FY24. Our commitment to improving the lives of vulnerable children is at the heart of everything we do. In FY24, we expanded our efforts to reach those in need, resulting in substantial support for over 3,000 individuals, including children who face significant hardships.

Through the integrated distribution of Goods-in-Kind (GIK), we provided vital resources that transformed educational environments and enhanced maternal and child health services. Our partnerships with local organizations and stakeholders have been instrumental in identifying and supporting at-risk families, ensuring that children not only receive the basic necessities but also enjoy improved learning conditions and health outcomes.

By focusing on these critical areas, we empower children to thrive and build a better future for themselves and their communities. Together, we continue to strive for a lasting impact, creating a world where every child can realize their potential.
